

Celebrating Every Child!

Artwork by:
Danté Mario Cureton
Malcolm X Academy
Detroit Public Schools

God's Best Gift to You, Mom

Sometimes a baby is born into tears
This makes me sad
The doctor says, "Oh no, your baby is a bad baby."
But this doctor is not a smart doctor
This doctor misses the point

When I grew into a child
My mom did cry
My dad did cry
I think I did cry too

But Got did not cry
God knew enough to smile
God has a secret surprise

Sometimes, in school,
A teacher says, "This kid cannot do anything good"
This teacher does not see
How easy this child is to love

Sometimes when you open
Your presents at Christmas
You tear off the paper to find something
You never would have asked for

When I was a baby
My mother didn't cry
I sit here and wonder
Would my mom have wept if she knew
What I was to become to her

I am this present
You will find out later in the day
I am the one
You didn't know you could love so much

Prose by:
Ross Brown
Clarkston High School
Clarkston Community Schools

Exceptional Children's Week
February 13-19, 2005

Michigan Council for Exceptional Children